

Do I Need A Passport on a Cruise?

Passengers will still be required to show a government-issued photo ID (such as a driver's license) and proof of citizenship (a certified copy of your birth certificate). You don't need a passport or passport card to cruise to Alaska from Seattle or other U.S. ports, you will need this documentation as the cruise ship must stop in Canada on its way. Without these required documents, you will not be able to board your cruise or get back into the United States. NOTE: Some closed-loop cruises can still change in certain countries, so be sure to check the entry requirements of the specific cruise ports on the itinerary. Some Caribbean nations still require passports or passport cards, like Martinique and Guadeloupe.

Reference: <https://www.cruisecritic.com/articles.cfm?ID=2063>